

THE BEING &
THE ARCHETYPES

Our Super Divine Star

The Absolute does not know itself. The Absolute needs to know itself.

Each super-divine atom needs to know itself in order to have Consciousness of its own happiness. Unconscious happiness is not happiness.

The human being, in his last synthesis, is just a super-divine atom from the Abstract Absolute Space. That atom is known by the Kabbalists with the name of Ain Soph.

It is urgent to know that the Ain Soph sends its Spirit to the world of matter with the purpose of acquiring that which is called Self-cognizance of its own happiness.

When the Spirit, after having passed through the mineral, plant, and animal states of Consciousness, attains the human state, it can return into the Ain Soph to fuse with It.

This is how the Ain Soph becomes conscious of its own happiness.

The Logos & Points In Space

In the dawn of any creation, the sacred Absolute Sun breathes out the Great Breath, the very holy Okidanokh or active Okidanokh; yet, this very omnipresent and omnipenetrating active ray of Okidanokh by itself could not create or perform any creation. It can penetrate within any cosmic unit that arises to life, but it will never remain seized or trapped by any cosmic unit. In order to be able to create, the Great Breath has to split itself asunder into the three ingredients that constitute the Holy Triamatzikamno...

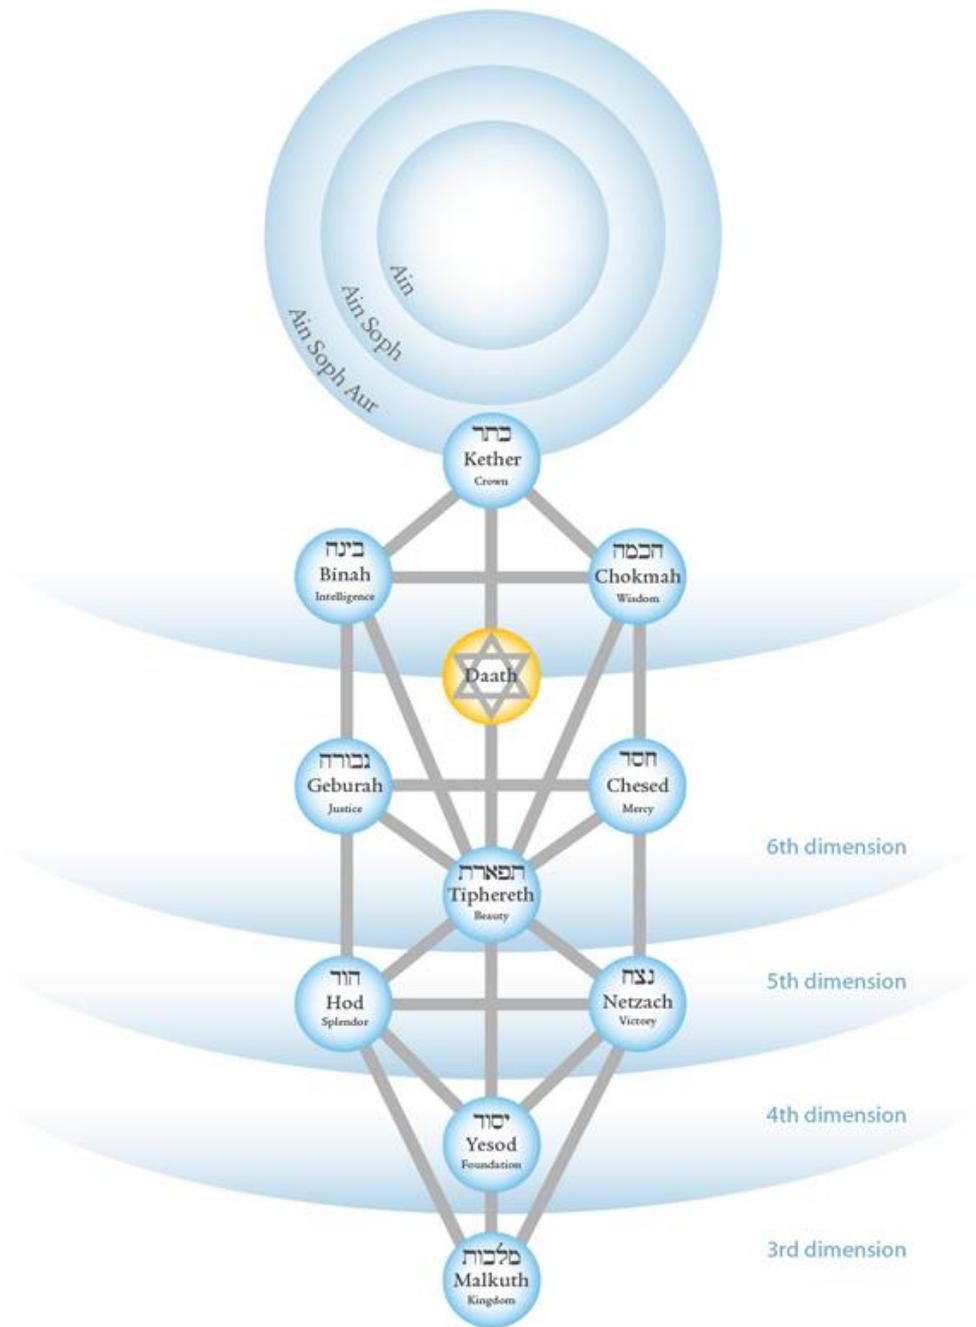

[The three primary forces] create and create anew, yet, if they flow in a dispersed manner, if they are not aimed at any given point, then they cannot perform any creation; but when they join at any given point in space, then creation is immediately originated.

We are mathematical points in space which serve as vehicles for predetermined sums of values.

The Being

It would be in no way possible to portray the Being. It resembles an army of innocent children; each of them performs specific tasks. The greatest longing of all initiates is to unify all parts of the Being.

Archetype, Primordial Molds

- Greek: ἀρχέτυπος archetipos
 - ἀρχή archē: beginning, origin
 - τύπος tipos: pattern, type, mold
 - Pattern – Pater - Father

Sexual energy contains within it the living archetype of the authentic Solar Man, which must take shape within us.

The Divine Mother

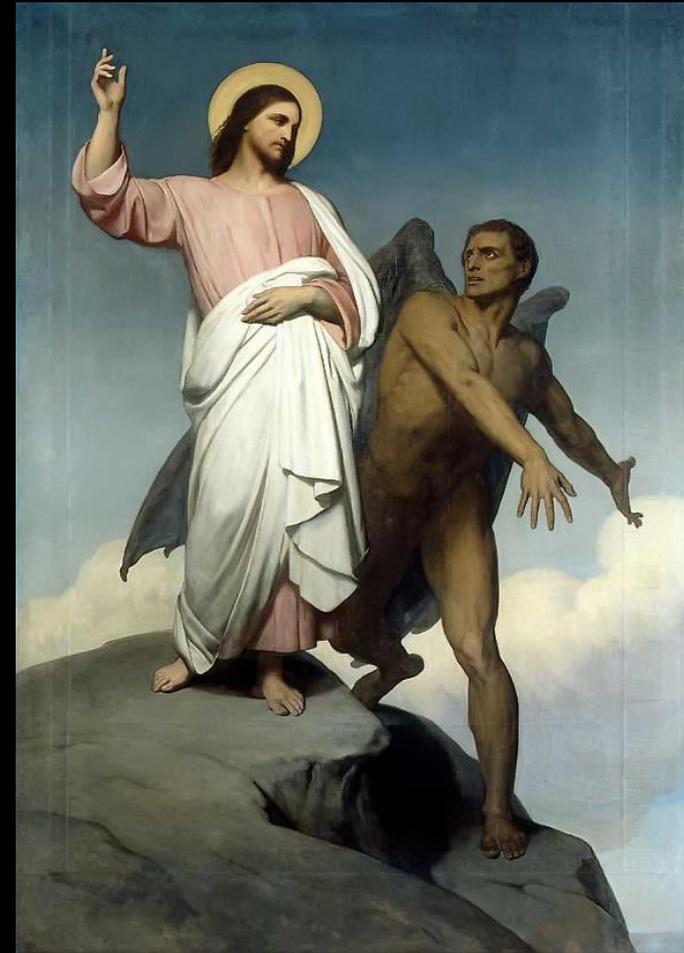

1. Unmanifested Kundalini or Mulaprakriti (Ain Soph): Divine Mother Space
2. Individual Particular Divine Mother (Binah): the Holy Spirit
3. Divine Mother Death (Geburah): Terror of Love and Law
4. Instinctive Elemental Female Magi (Yesod)
5. Individual Particular Divine Mother Nature (Malkuth)

Lucifer

Xolotl-Lucifer is not in any way a foreign personage separated from our psyche, but rather, Lucifer is certainly the shadow of our divine Being within our own particular inner depths.
