MACHINERY OF THE SOUL 02:
SACRIFICE AND TRANSFORMATION

SACRIFICE AND TRANSFORMATION

Sacrifice: from Latin sacrificium, from sacer holy + facere to make

Transformation: to change in shape

TRANSFORMATION OF ENERGY

The intellectual animal (mistakenly called a human being) is a machine that is necessary for the economy of Nature. [...]

The human machine automatically receives and transforms certain cosmic rays that later are unconsciously transmitted into the interior layers of the Earth.

TYPES OF NOURISHMENT

Impressions

- What system transforms the energy of impressions?

Air

- Cardiovascular respiration enables nutrient metabolization.

Food

- Digestion and absorption of nutrients.

TRANSFORMATION OF IMPRESSIONS

External Events

Information of the world arriving through the senses

Raw information is always filtered through the capacities of the sense organs.

An impression is formed based on the relationship between information of external events and the 'self'.

Opportunity to transform the impression by means of the consciousness.

Mechanical reaction related to memories, unconscious elements, and grasping at a false understanding of self and other.

Response to the impression manifesting through the Three Brains

Responses based upon transformed impressions conserves energy.

Responses based upon untransformed impressions waste energy.

RECIPROCAL NOURISHMENT

The Law of the Reciprocal Nourishment of every existing thing exists in the world. The purpose of our lives is to supply maintenance to something big or small in the world. This law was known by ancient sages as the process of the Cosmic Common Trogoautoegocrat.

Askokin is the substance with which this Great Nature is nourished. So, Mother Nature gives us life, yet She collects a very high price for it. She demands Askokin in exchange, yet if we do not voluntarily give this Askokin to her, then She snatches it by force, by means of great wars.

THREE FACTORS

The revolution of the Consciousness has three perfectly defined factors:

1. First, death;
2. Second, birth;
3. Third, sacrifice for humanity.

The order of these factors does not alter the product.

1. To die is a matter of revolutionary ethics and dissolution of the psychological ego.
2. To be born is a subject related to sexual transmutation.
3. Sacrifice for humanity is universal, cognizant charity.
